Changes have been made but familiarities remain. Two teachers continue to render their faithful services to seas of faces. A former student voices his opinion as a member and past chairman of the school board. Second generations attend classes while parents participate in P.T.A. work and reminisce about the days gone by when they roamed through these hallowed halls and trudged up and down the less-worn stairs.

Miss Starnes, Miss Greever continue fine teaching.

Mr. Clarence Howard, 1933 senior, now school board member.

Mrs. Lee George, 1933 senior; Boyd Lee, 1958 junior.

Still familiar from the '33 Log are the first four: Miss Greever; Mr. Everette Sox; Miss Starnes; and Miss Rosa Lec Dixon; Max Steelman (last on second row); and Miss Millie Kate McComb (third on third row). Early arrivals at a '58 faculty meeting (below), like good church members, shun the front seats.

The crew-neck sweaters and the dresses of the '30's (above) return, along with the charm of the antique autos.

To Mr. Cottrell:

Too much has been done in these 25 years, too much accomplished to enumerate or specify. We cannot count the students he has piloted, the lives he has bettered, the vast improvements he has made in the curriculum, facilities, and general atmosphere. We cannot measure his devotion, the admiration he has most assuredly won from students and faculty. We can only present this twenty-fifth year in the 1958 Loc as an outstanding symbol of his work well done.

hickory high continues to broaden

THE movement toward more extensive education was climaxed with Sputnik's ominous "beep-beep" as it passed over Hickory and the rest of the world. As in the past, Hickory High is broadening its curriculum, maintaining the pace set by modern education. Thus, more Hickory High students may find open college doors and make places for themselves in the complex, unsettled future.

Leading the advancement of Hickory City Schools is Superintendent W. S. Hamilton. He has been teacher, coach, principal, and is in his seventh year as superintendent. Mr. Hamilton is also a civic leader and a member of the Kiwanis Club and First Methodist Church.

School Board members make further plans for the completion of the new West Hickory Junior High at a regular meeting.

Mr. Cottrell and his secretary, Mrs. Tom Long, check the attendance record, one of their many duties throughout the day.

The School Board is faced with many tasks as it capably guides and directs the administration of the Hickory school system.

H. H. S. Abreast in Electronics Age

Mr. Bruton helps shop students in fashioning bedroom suites, cedar chests, coffee tables, and other wood-working accomplishments.

Wayne Deitz and Johnny Setzler show special talents in the field of electronics while working on the AM radio.

ELECTRONICS, SHOP, TV HISTORY.

The newest class at HHS, instituted this year on an experimental basis, is the U. S. History TV class. Originating at the University of North Carolina in Chapel Hill, the class is taught by Miss Lois Edinger. The two first period classes participate in the program, taking notes and making field trips through the eyes of the TV camera.

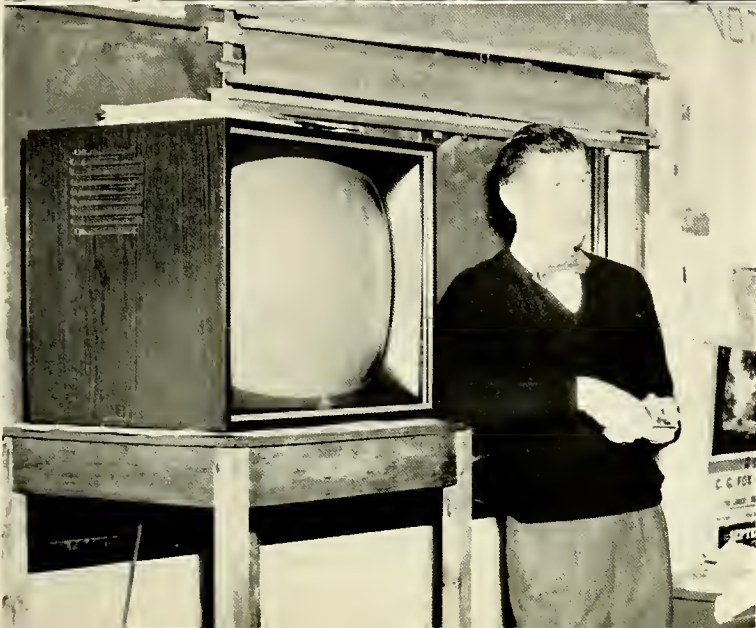

Shop and Electronics are two of the improved and expanded classes. From fashioning unique tables and bedroom suites with a professional look to face masks—sometimes they venture to mold the likenesses of fellow students—the boys in shop gain much experience and knowledge.

Electronics students study the phases of the AM radio. They build radio receivers and work with amplifiers, earphones, and flame measurers. This gives advanced students the opportunity to further study in the vocational field.

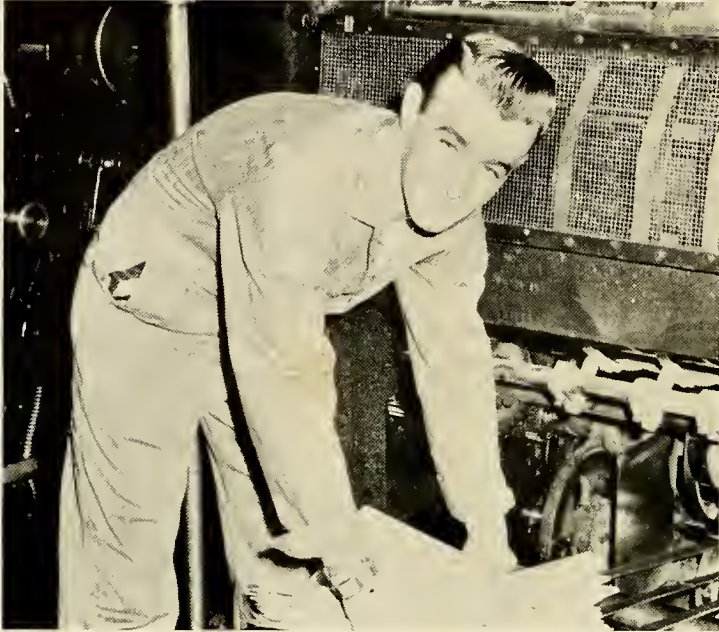

Students Sonja Punch and Mary Link Miller, along with Mrs. Cilley, enjoy the visit with history television teacher, Miss Lois Edinger.

Mr. Miller completes 30 minute preparation before tuning in 9:00 lecture.

Mr. Bean helps band students, Jerry Cates and Ronnie Green, eliminate difficulties in their numbers.

Jerry Lail, Susan Mauldin, Gloria Gilbert examine results of theatre study in dramatics.

A most interesting and helpful phase of Hickory High's curriculum this past year has been the introduction of new classes to meet the individual needs and talents of the student. One of the larger classes is College English. This class provides the more advanced students and those preparing for college with accelerated English. Dramatics has been added for those students interested in dramatic work, acting, and the history of the theater. Each section of the band has a separate rehearsal once a week, and members may receive private lessons. The guidance counselor gives special aid in the testing program and also helps students with personal problems or in planning for the future.

HHS teachers spend much extra time outside class as well as in the classroom. An example of this is shown above at one of the teachers' meetings. This is only one of many ways they are maintaining standards for our high accrediting.

Classroom Activities only part of Teachers'

Coach Miller and Mrs. Sigmon use books on teaching methods filed in the office.

Students enjoy seeing another side of their teachers at the annual teachers' production.

Three-fifteen does not end teacher's day. Lesson plans, papers, records, added to other activities—such as P.T.A. fashion show with Miss Burns (center)—mean busy after-school hours for faculty.

Fellowship for faculty members, too—English Council's dinner in January and F.H.A. Thanksgiving luncheon. Mr. Cottrell and Mrs. Sikes enjoy latter.

Full Schedule

Teachers are best rewarded by the work of their students and their achievements but often other presents come their way. Here Mrs. John Lackey is surprised and thrilled after the '57 LOG was dedicated to her and she was presented a silver tray.

Last minute preparation and six-weeks' test cramming are done by Ginger Speagle at the breakfast table and until the split second before the first period bell rings.

Time for fellowship is frantically grabbed in the big study hall by bus students and other early arrivals.

From history to biology to math to English: fast pace and much study. Here Mary Link Miller and Jane Burns review grammar study.

Constant Pressure of

Often the student's day begins with the unpleasant ring of the alarm clock and the realization that he hasn't completed his homework. Early begins this continuous rush that lasts until the last lights are dimmed at the end of a long, long day.

Of course, there are classes—sometimes frantic, especially when the unsuspecting student is given a pop test. The time passes all too quickly during the five minutes between classes and the short lunch period.

At last the regular school day is over and the student hurries home to study with the "peaceful quiet" of radio, TV, record player, and telephone. Not to be forgotten are the exhilarating ball games, club meetings, and long hours working with homecoming and outside activities.

During the five minutes between classes, impromptu gossip sessions keep students posted on the latest "who, what, when, and where."

Studying, Activities Fills Student's Day

For most, lunch in cafeteria gives short period of relaxation; others make wild dash for hamburgers.

Despite filled schedule, teacher and student find time to develop close relationship. Here Doris Bolick works with Mrs. Triplett.

Some students further "complicate" day by substituting study hall with a learning activity—publication, Council, radio, or speech.

School ties carry on through evening—games, meetings, parties—sometimes leaving limited time to "foreign" parents.

STUDENTS remain the building blocks

EVEN though the campus, buildings, and styles have changed during the past quarter century, the students of Hickory High still remain basically the same.

They are the traffic-jammed halls, the football cheers, the piles of books, the cheerful hellos, and the daily whirl of activities that go on.

They are the passing fads, the crazy music, the swinging slang and the school spirit.

Year after year, generation after generation, students remain the building block of the future, the reason for improvement.

this 25th year brings outstanding distinctions

MAD rushing, gigantic plans, hard work, great fun —this is what their clubs mean to HHS students. Various projects, publications and cooperation bring honors in the county, state, and nation. Journeying to conventions in places near and far widens enthusiasm and awareness. Awards always bring dramatic climaxes to a successful and outstanding year.

The center of all student activities, the Student Council, has been especially busy during this year as a result of the North Carolina Student Council Congress Convention held here in the fall. Besides this, all activities concerned with Homecoming were under their supervision. Among their other activities are the preparing of a hand book and programs for the football games.

The purpose of the Student Council is to foster a more co-operative spirit among the students of HHS, to create and maintain high standards of honor, and to promote a wholesome school spirit.

Home-game duty, serving food to hungry football players, is filled by Mary Beth Wilson, Gordon Knowles, and Judy Howard.

State Student Council Convention Highlights Year

Highlighting the work of the Student Council was preparing for and conducting the North Carolina Student Council Congress held at Hickory High during October. Seventy schools sent approximately 320 delegates and exchange students.

The whole school, both individuals and clubs, worked together to make this meeting a success. The various clubs in charge of different phases of the convention were French Club, housing arrangements; Garden Club, flower arrangements; Beta Club, dance decorations; Monogram Club, transportation; P.T.A., arrival snack; F.H.A., coke party; F.T.A., badges; Loc staff, luncheon arrangements; Leaves staff, tickets; Music department, music and entertainment; Art Club, covers for programs; and the D.O. and D.E. departments, stage preparations.

John Frye, HHS president and state treasurer, served as director of the convention. Another HHS student, Henry Harrison, was elected N. C. state vice-president.

Pre-convention planning takes time, work, but Council members Belk and Jameson find it fun.

Culmination of those hours of work: Henry Harrison, John Frye, and Ginger Speagle enjoy successful convention banquet.

home room representatives always in line

Home Room Representative Lois Combs keeps R. Brittain, B. Lowdermilk, J. McCreary in order during lunch.

Almost "queue crazy" might describe the Home Room Representatives, for they certainly are used to lines; the long gray line at lunch, and the line in the office in the morning, where telephone conversations are limited to "Where?" and "Why?" about their missing comrades. Again this year the Representatives are relieving the teachers of that tiresome job of lunchline duty. The job requires the members to spend approximately thirty minutes in the lunch room at least once every other week. The Home Room Representatives serve as go-betweens between the HHS student body and the Student Council. They carry suggestions from the student body to the council.

The Junior Marshals, composed of the junior members of the Beta Club, play a very important part in the graduation ceremonies. Chosen each spring on their ability to lead and guide others, their high standards of character, and scholastic achievements and abilities, these juniors perform the jobs of ushering—processionally and recessionally—giving out the programs, and other duties at the Baccalaureate sermon and the Commencement exercises. Each Junior Marshal has proved himself worthy of this honor through this school work and outside activities. Heading the group are the two Chief Marshals who are chosen on their superior scholastic abilities. The Chief Marshals escort the Seniors down the aisle to receive their long-awaited diplomas.

Writing is basic skill required

Everybody at HHS writes, but about 18% of the students are actively engaged in organizations that require writing as the chief duty to carry on their respective work. Most Loc, Twig, Radio Staff, and Leaves members devote at least an hour a day to writing. These activities serve not only in telling what is going on at HHS, but relate to the community as a whole, what the school is doing.

For several years the Twig, the Loc, and Quill and Scroll have won honors in competition with other schools in the nation. The Columbia and the National Scholastic Press Associations are two of the rating services used.

Concentration on writing techniques alone is not the only way to win and keep national honors; these staffers have found workshops, short courses, and conferences helpful to keep up top standards and work up enthusiasm. This year students attended courses at Chapel Hill; Cullowhee; Lexington, Virginia; and New York. Instruction really began for most of these students in the HHS journalism class.

Having met the requirements of his respective staff as well as the grade standards, a student is chosen for membership in the Beatrice Cobb chapter of Quill and Scroll, an international honorary society for high school journalists. This organization benefits high school journalism as a whole. Top memory for many Quill and Scroll members: activity-filled New York trips.

Business staffers have a year-round job. Soon after school starts, with their super sales talks they begin selling ads to business men of this area.

Near Christmas HHS students begin saving their money to buy their Log subscriptions from these staffers.

Laying out of the ads and balancing the books keep the members busy in January. Spring means distributing Logs and planning for next year's book, ending a year filled with figures and fun.

Twice monthly, HHS students eagerly await the arrival of the Twig. They were greeted with a new look this year—newsprint. The paper is one column wider and three inches longer than before. New features are "Letters to the Editors" and world news. school, wins national honor ratings

With high hopes for a prosperous day, Julia Jefferiess and Paulette Hoke venture out into the big business world to solicit Twigg ads.

Selling Twiggs at Hickory High and Jr. High every other Friday is the climax of two busy weeks for the Twigg business staff. Their work begins the Monday immediately after a Twigg comes out. They sell ads to merchants and businessmen in the Hickory area, for the Twigg is financed with the money obtained from these ads and the actual sale of the paper. On Thursday night before the Twigg is sold, the members meet to fold the papers. The staff also sends issues to alumni and exchanges papers and ideas with other schools.

"Phone number of every girl in school" helps Dixon Suther and Sloan Ford sell Directory to Ned Donnelly.

Selling Hickory High book covers and plastic covers for the Log were income projects of the Leaves staff this year. The money made from these sales was used to publish the literary magazine. This magazine is composed of short stories, poems, and essays contributed by outstanding high school writers.

The staff began early in the fall compiling the Student Directory. This directory came out just before Christmas in time to be a big help in addressing Christmas cards. With the telephone change-over, these directories proved to be time-savers.

The Quill and Scroll is a national honorary society for outstanding high school journalists.

A new project held in the fall is the meeting of the Catawba County Press Association. Here county schools have classes in newspaper and yearbook production. The Quill and Scroll also sponsors the Twirp Dance and Hickory Daily Record Day.

The highlight of each year for Quill and Scroll members is the Quill and Scroll banquet held in the late spring. Climaxing a year of hard work, trophies are awarded to the outstanding members of each publication's staff.

"Radio Day" highlight of year for RADIO STAFF

B. Martin, B. Sigmon, and P. Longworth discuss HHS current affairs as Neill Clark adjusts mike boom.

On Radio Day, the Hickory High Radio Staff takes over Radio Station WIRC and broadcasts all programs. Throughout the year, every Saturday morning at ten o'clock "Hickory High Speaks." During the week the staff works diligently to collect news and information for the program on Saturday. Much preparation goes into the program on which HHS news, a mystery personality, a feature, and sports are included. Thursdays are "tape days" when the staff members organize and record the program to check for flaws, timing and voice sounds. Two members of the staff, Neill Clark and Judy Bowles, won scholarships to the University of North Carolina during the summer where they learned the techniques of radio program production.

Daily duties keep LIBRARY CLUBbers busy

Keeping an accurate record of each individual's reading list, the student library assistants serve as a link between the students and library. Other duties include handling the circulation of books, collecting fines and permits, and returning the books to their proper shelves. By performing these important tasks, they share responsibilities and enable the librarian more time to devote to other important duties. The service given in library work provides development of talents in the club members which make them able to give notable service in other activities in the school. Members attend district and state meetings of the Library Association and take a bus trip to some point of interest each spring.

Judy Bolick and Barbara Burns busily help Mrs. Matthews with library work.

Making up half of the music department of Hickory High, the choral department, composed of a double octette, a trio, a girls' and a boys' glee club, and a mixed chorus, has participated in various activities throughout the year.

During the Christmas season the sixty voice choir sang for several civic organizations and, as a special feature, joined with the band to present an inspiring yuletide program.

In the spring, chorus members elected representatives to attend a clinic at Mars Hill College and to sing in the all-state chorus at Woman's College in Greensboro.

CHORUS takes top honors in district contest

Carolyn Vaughn, accompanist for choral groups, discusses interpretation of new selection with Mr. Ellis.

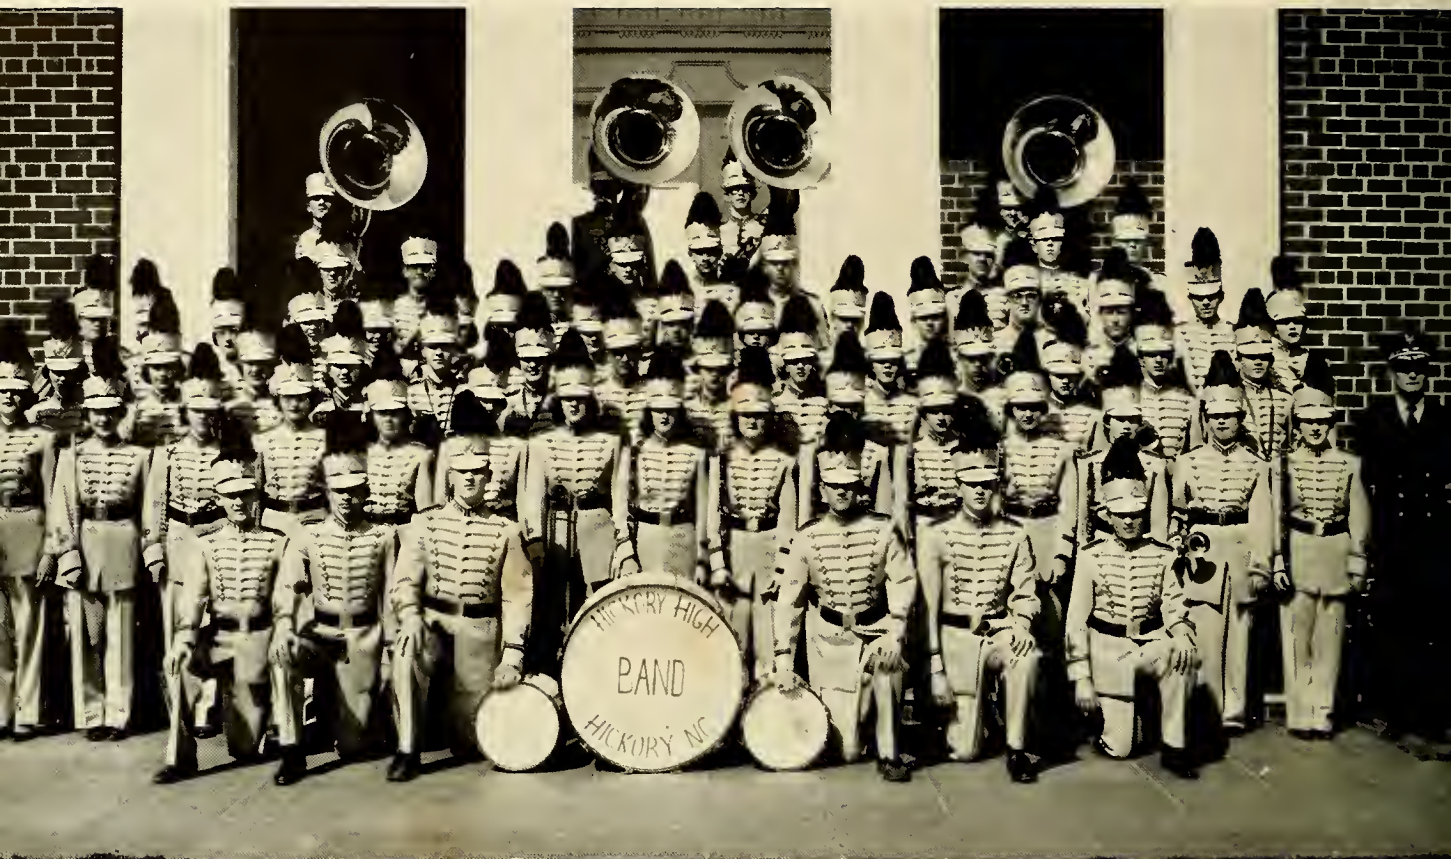

As in previous summers, outstanding students were delegates to the North Carolina State Choral Workshop, conducted at Eastern Carolina Teachers' College by the Noted Dr. Lara Hoggard, who formerly trained the Fred Waring Choir.

In Boone, the chorus performed Grade IV music in the Western North Carolina Chorus Festival and came home bursting with pride over superior ratings.

Honors at state contest

Each year the band has taken its part in promoting school spirit and enthusiasm among the students.

Two weeks prior to school's opening, band members begin to drill. This year most of the band shows were precision marching; that is, the whole band acted as one person. In order to become proficient in this, the students spent many long hours of practice. In addition to playing for all the Hickory High football games, the band marched in the homecoming parades of Hickory High, Lenoir Rhyne, Boone, and for band day at the University of North Carolina.

This year Mr. Bean, band director, was assisted by Mr. Robert Ellis. Together they conducted the weekly section rehearsals and extra practices. For those students wishing to take lessons on their instruments, Mr. Bean and Mr. Ellis gave private instruction.

In preparation for the state music contest, this year the band worked extra hard. By making a superior at the state contest last year the band did not have to attend the district contest, which was held in Hickory this year.

The band gave a Christmas concert with the choruses of HHS and the Jr. High and a 100-voice children's choir. They also gave a Farewell Concert in the Spring in honor of the graduating Seniors.

Midnight oil pays off for BETA CLUB members

January Polio Drive money is counted by Miss Greever, Jimmy Wilson, and John Nininger.

An additional activity for the Beta Club this year was the decoration of the National Guard Armory for the State Student Council convention dance. This, plus their major project, the March of Dimes Drive, held annually during the month of January, prepared members for graduation responsibilities. Junior members have their big moment when they serve as Junior Marshals for the Baccalaureate and Commencement exercises.

The Beta Club, a member of the national organization, provides recognition of students having scholastic and leadership ability, commendable attitudes, and outstanding attainments.

FUTURE TEACHERS often practice instructing

Having chosen teaching as their future profession, the members of the Dixon-McComb Chapter of the Future Teachers of America Club eagerly train for their future work. By substituting for teachers, keeping the information desk at the front entrance, acting as guides for Open House during Education Week, and assisting teachers with visual aids and supplies, the students embark upon a full schedule, learning the fundamental work of a teacher and the opportunities it brings. Having been organized since 1952, the Future Teachers of America have been successful in developing student leadership and cultivating the qualities essential to a good teacher.

French Clubbers have made potato chips a Hickory delicacy. Here M. B. Wilson makes a sale to A. Matheson.

By sponsoring the American Field Service program, the French club develops for the HHS students a better understanding of the rest of the world. The club makes it possible for a foreign student to attend our school for one year, gives Hickory High students a chance to go abroad during the summer, and sponsors an international weekend when school, churches, and homes ring with a strange mixture of languages of students from all over the world. The money made on the potato chip sale is used to help support the American Field Service program and to provide needed visual aids for classroom use. Films and speakers make up the bi-weekly programs of the club. These meetings show students France and her place in the world.

Everyone at HHS knows that the boy with the All-American look and Norwegian accent is Svein Tommerdal of Aalesund, Norway. Svein has become popular with all the students at HHS because of his wonderful sense of humor. Svein interprets European life to the students by association and to the community by speeches. He has set a dizzy pace keeping up with interests in A.F.S., sports, and honorary membership in six clubs.

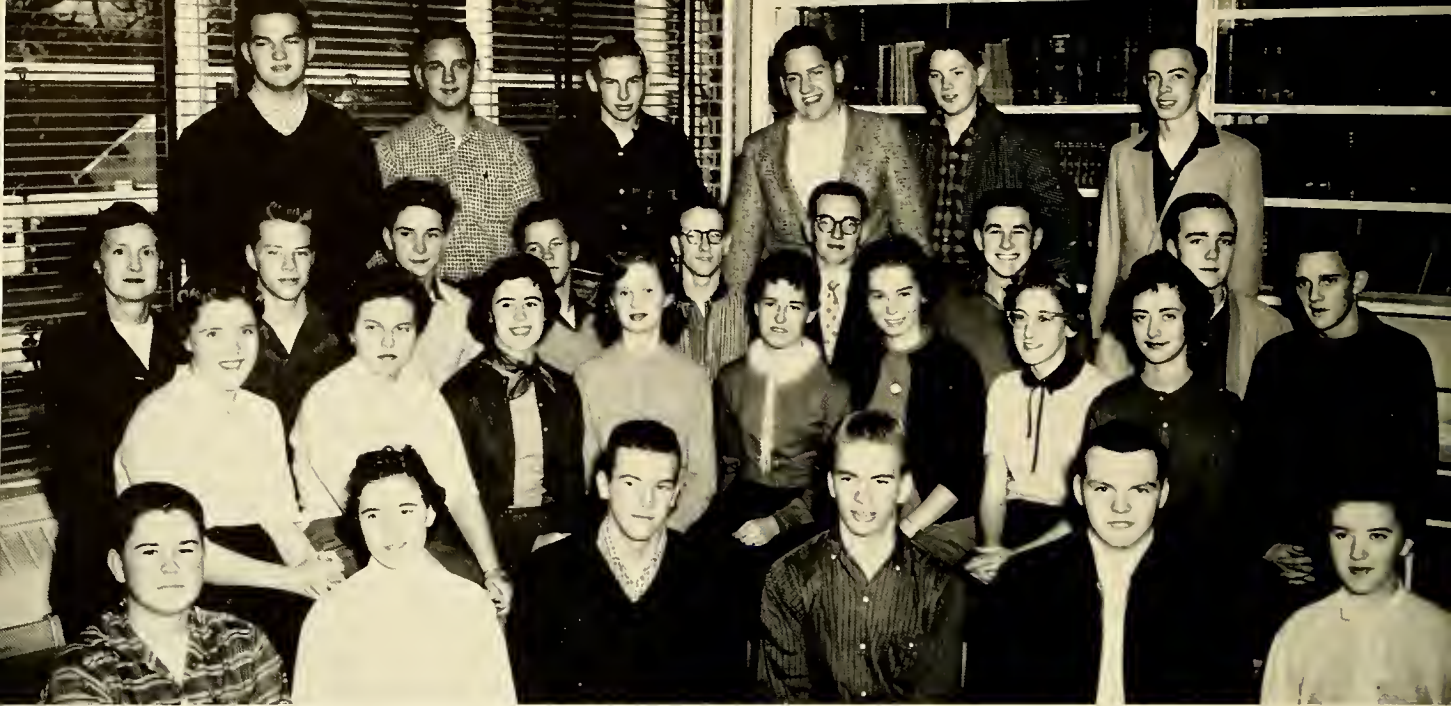

At the surprise birthday party given him by his classmates, Svein excitedly opens his presents.

LATIN CLUB celebrates Ides of March

Aluminum helmets, sugar-block architecture show Latin Clubbers' ingenuity and attract admirers.

The Iota Chi Society is the mysterious name of HHS's new Latin Club. These second-year-class students are also members of the Junior Classical League, a national organization. For their study of Roman Law and Jurisprudence, the research paper topic, the club attended Superior Court in Newton to compare America's court procedure with that of Ancient Rome. As a welfare project, the club chose to adopt an underprivileged child for the school year. One of the highlights of the year was attending the state convention in Chapel Hill, near the Ides of March.

KEY CLUB plays Santa to needy children

HHS Key Club members began a clean year by selling soap to Hickory residents. The sale of Christmas wrapping paper also helped finance club projects—a gift to the school's athletic department and an under-privileged children's Christmas party in which all HHS students had a hand. Each room "adopted" one child for the yule season. The Kiwanis Club guides the boys in their projects and helps them to obtain their goal. This goal is to build character and citizenship in its members.

P. T. A. Representatives unite parents, school

The link between the Parent Teachers Association and the student body is the P.T.A. Representatives. These students, one from each homeroom, are in charge of the P.T.A. membership drive. Before each meeting the representatives call the parents of the students in their homerooms to remind them that, "... there's to be a P.T.A. meeting this Thursday in the high school auditorium." Attending P.T.A. meetings and reporting news of interest to the students are other duties of the representatives. They are frequently called upon to render the opinion of the HHS student.

Masks, mosaics, and murals familiar to ART CLUB

Jeanne Belk tries a floral print on the art room wall display to see whether the weird masks will bite.

"The most beautiful in the building!" visitors often exclaimed about the HHS art room. However, it's often the messiest room. These young artists are the first to admit that a creation is worth nothing at all unless they have spattered paint, spilled glue, or smudged a few faces. The ultimate effect is worth the effort when the ingenious masks, unique statues, colorful paintings, and eye-catching mosaics are displayed on the walls of the entrance hall. Visiting the art galleries and participating in exhibits broaden their cultural outlook and composition ability as well as widen their knowledge of various fields of art. They learned to use various materials including water colors, oil, and charcoal.

Always on the job, never tiring BUS DRIVERS

After completing the daily sweeping of the bus, Kenneth Johnson brings records up to date.

With the increasing number of students, it became necessary to obtain another 98 passenger hydro-matic school bus this year. This addition makes a total of thirteen buses for Hickory High School, ten regular and three hydro-matic. In order to insure the safety of the students and the capability of the drivers, each driver must take a qualifying test given by the county. This all goes to make up safe transportation for the students. These bus drivers spend approximately three hours per day transporting students to and from school. Drivers are also responsible for keeping their buses clean and orderly and for making monthly bus reports.

Students today, FUTURE HOMEMAKERS of tomorrow

Louise Smathers, Libby Huggins, Brenda Abernethy and Patsy Cline model their own creations.

Hickory High students looked twice at the girls modeling fall fashions in the front hall and realized that instead of Vogue models, they were really Future Homemakers, showing their own creations. Heads also turned when they had their spring fashion show.

Highlighting the club year, the Future Homemaking members gave a Mother-Daughter banquet during FHA week. The banquet, prepared by the girls, was held at the school. For yearly projects the club sold Christmas cards and took over the Junior Red Cross.

Beautifying school grounds—GARDEN CLUB'S purpose

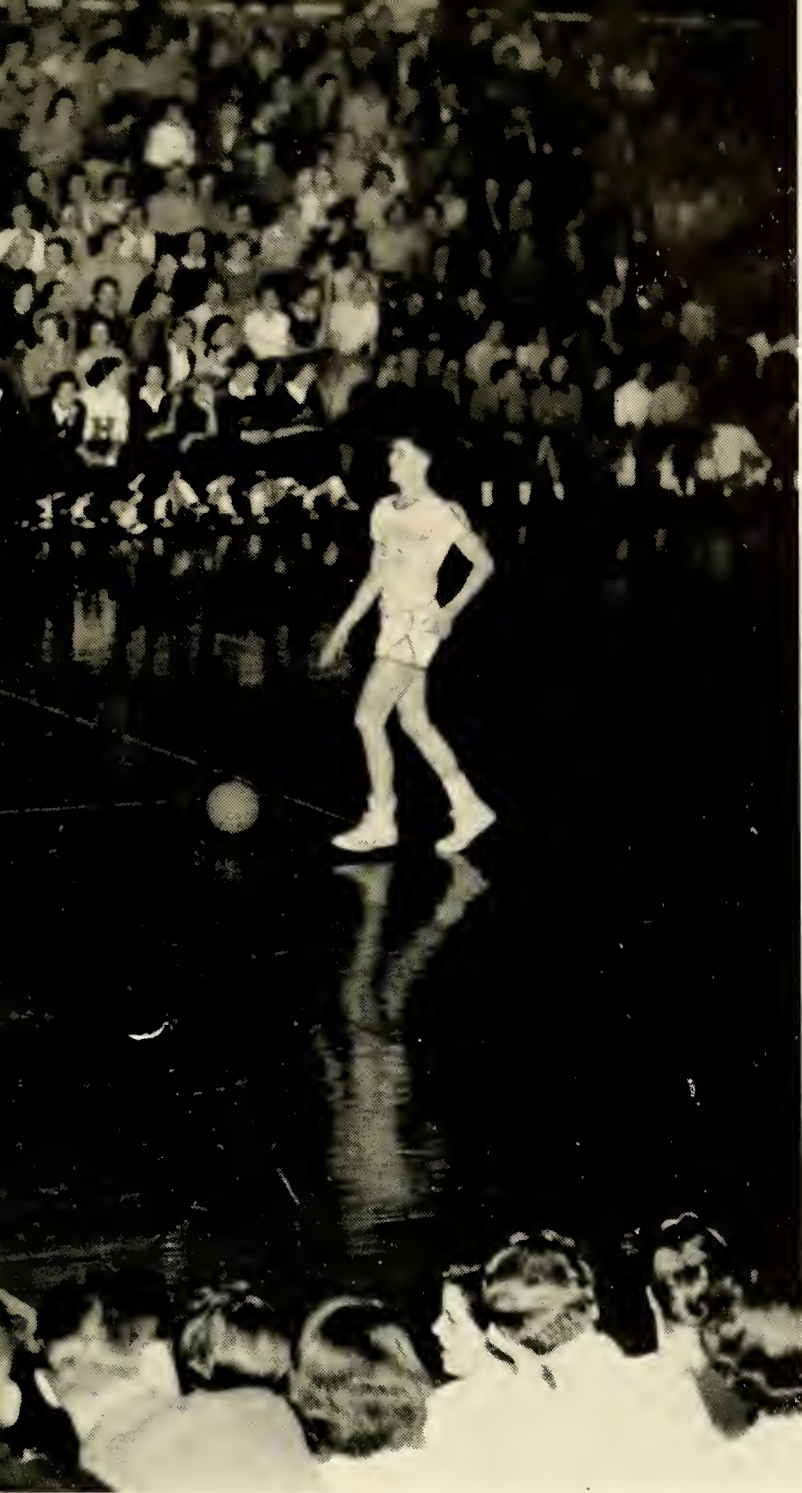

"To beautify" seemed to be the theme of the Hickory Nut Garden Club which worked during the year to improve the school grounds. The planting of ground-covering plants and flowers around the lunchroom was among their projects this year. Under the sponsorship and guidance of a local Garden Club, the members were taught the skill of growing and arranging flowers. For the Student Council convention, the club made all the table arrangements for the banquet. Christmas became a busy time for the club when they began one of their projects—selling Christmas corsages and handmade wreaths.

Christmas corsages sold by all the Garden Club members were the talk of Hickory High.

conference championships make

ONCE again the precedent of being champions has been maintained by HHS teams. After school time plus guidance from coaches develop the physical dexterity and team co-operation that are vital to champions. Good sports usually win—in team competition and later life—and HHS students have for 25 years felt fortunate to be led by a staunch supporter of good sportsmanship.

memorable year for SPORTS

The 1933 girls' basketball champions pose formally in the then "charming" and popular suits.

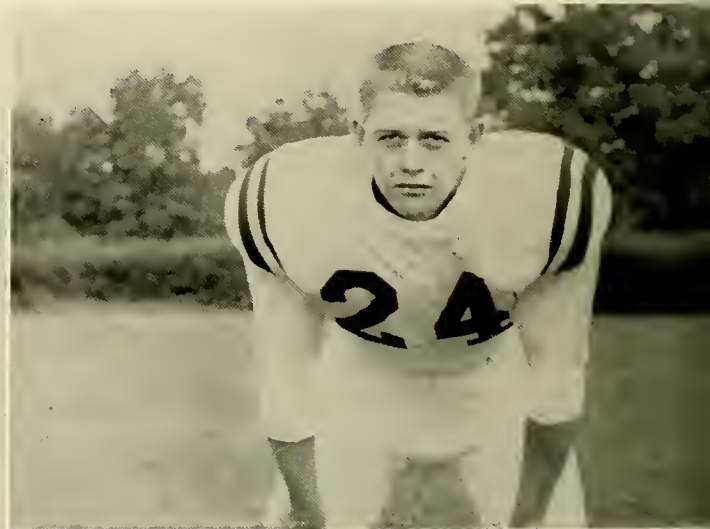

We still have the same championship qualities today though the mood is less formal and the suits up to date.

1933 or 1958 good sportsmanship remains the same

Bill Norris, a 1933 grid star, was influenced by high school athletics to coach his primary grades at Kenworth school and other young teams throughout Hickory.

Perhaps the next few years will find Lee Kanipe, a Norris protege who shows an interest in physical education, doing similar work.

As with any school, sports play a big part in HHS's daily routine. Few days pass without a team engaging in some phase of athletics.

Even before school opens, football practices start, with the coaches and players beginning their drills in the early morning hours. At the end of the season, outstanding members of the team are honored at the annual Football Banquet.

Basketball brings many fans to the Community Center and rival gyms. HHS students support their teams in defeat as well as victory. The conference tournament follows with top teams in the conference participating.

Another sport in progress along with basketball, is wrestling. Now in its second year, this sport encourages the boy not in basketball to get into intra-school activities.

Golf, also new at HHS, finds the boy who has been playing golf for some time, putting his experience to good use. Coach Jim Garrett instituted this sport, and gives his golfers pointers for improving their game.

In the spring, the track team starts its workouts. As the boys round into shape, the athletes are separated according to their event. At the end of the season, all conference teams meet at Davidson College.

A cluster of boys on the tennis courts is evidence that the tennis season is here. The tennis team is matched against top teams in North Carolina.

The crack of bat against ball signifies the opening of the last sport in the HHS year. Although baseball is not primarily a spectator sport at HHS, the team is always top-flight.

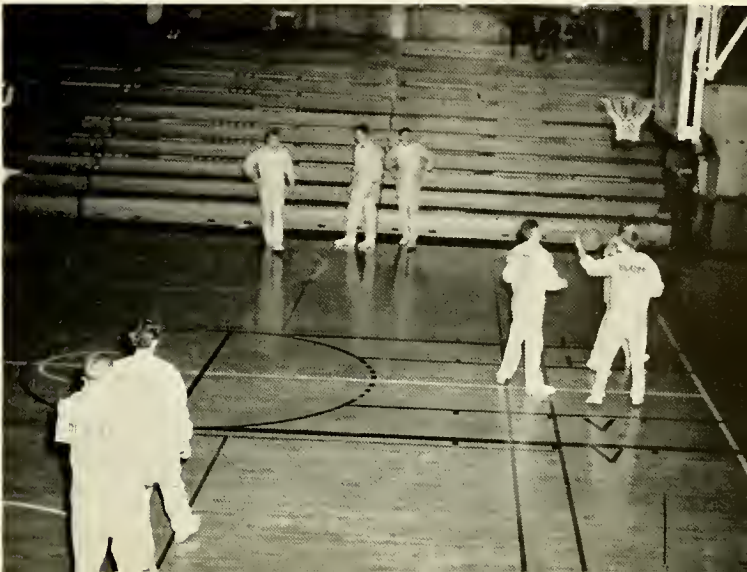

David Bowman uses the "chicken wing" in a wrestling match with Mooresville.

H. L. Duncan strains for all the distance he can get out of his jump.

HHS cagers—in new suits—warm up for an important game.

They led the way to Victory

The coaches spend approximately two-and-a-half hours every afternoon coaching and instructing the athletes. Every three months a new sport is introduced. For the first three months football is played; then basketball and wrestling; and concluding the season in the spring, baseball, tennis, golf, and track.

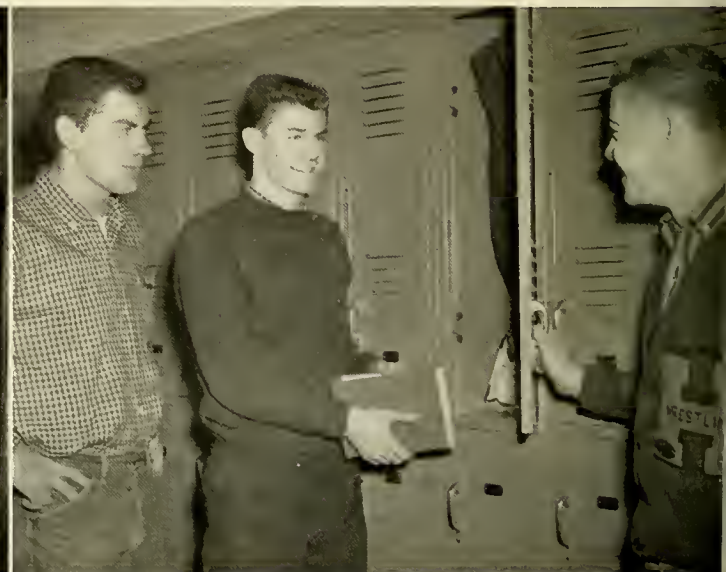

The coaches have also been honored, for their good coaching, by being chosen as all-star coaches in basketball and in football.

HHS Cheerleaders have to be travelers

Cheerleaders lead cheering in the high school auditorium, pep rallies at college field, and caravans to out-of-town games. Ingenious new cheers often add flavor to Hickory High games, creating excitement and increasing the students' support of their teams. These pep leaders also sold garnet and gold shakers and pennants.

Proving it pays to be peppy, HHS cheerleaders rouse school enthusiasm through cheers.

Football Team—second in Conference—

The Hickory High Red Tornadoes compiled a 7-3 won-lost record in over-all play and a 6-2 conference mark. The outstanding running of Tommy James and the great line play of Lee Kanipe, Buddy Burcham, and H. L. Duncan earned them All-Conference honors. Tommy James was selected to play in the Shrine Bowl, but an injury sidelined him.

Coach Frank Barger got outstanding play from juniors and sophomores. Sophs Larry Rudisill and Danny Lonon gave the Tornadoes good bench strength. Junior guard Steve Lineberger stood out on defense, while Hoppy Huffman starred on offense.

backed by strong J. V.'s

Defending their undefeated record of last year, the Hickory High Junior Varsity was defeated in only one game. Of their eight contests the J. V.'s lost a close battle to Gastonia, whom they later defeated, 12 to 6. In all of their other games, Hickory won by large margins.

On a cold night some players consider themselves lucky to warm the bench.

After weeks of being postponed, the Hudson game was finally played in light rain.

L. Clay, W. Warren, J. Huffman, and T. James run through back field plays on the HHS practice field.

Toughest enemy: Weather

A bevy of HHS players overcome the ball-carrier to halt Hudson's drive.

Good equipment is important to safety on a muddy field. Steve Lineberger stores helmet.

Once again Hickory chargers stop the Taylorsville line.

R. Brittain, J. Dellinger, S. Lineberger, and R. Helton were influential in maintaining HHS's gridiron record.

HHS practices were hampered by bad weather. This lack of practice for important games hindered the Tornadoes somewhat. A rough schedule against top-flight conference and non-conference teams was made even rougher, by rain and mud.

Weather did more than cut practice and turn fans away in droves; it caused several bad breaks against the Tornadoes. The Hudson and Morganton games were slowed by wet fields.

H. Duncan, R. Lonon, R. Moser, L. Clay, L. Kanipe, B. Burcham, and L. Frye compose the starting line.

In their first game of the season the Red Tornadoes lost to Shelby, 7 to 6. Tommy James scored Hickory's only touchdown. Shelby scored with only seconds remaining in the game.

In their first conference game of the season, Hickory downed Newton-Conover, 27 to 0, with James and Bobby Williams taking scoring honors.

The Tornadoes scored their second conference win of the year with a 7 to 2 victory over Wilkes-Central. Buddy Burcham and Lee Kanipe stood out defensively.

Lenoir was Hickory's next victim, 14 to 7. The Hickory lads avenged their only defeat of last year. Bobby Williams sparked the Tornado attack.

The Marion Rippers spoiled the HHS Homecoming by defeating the Tornadoes, 27 to 0.

In a thrilling contest, Hickory lost to Morganton by the score of 6 to 0. The Tornadoes played a good defensive game, but offense was weak.

Hickory defeated Hudson next, 20 to 13. H. L. Duncan caught two touchdown passes. Richard Brittain intercepted a pitchout and scored.

In their biggest offensive show of the year, HHS romped over Taylorsville, 49 to 13. Williams, Darryl Grigg, and James led the Tornadoes to victory.

The final game of the season saw HHS win over Valdese, 26 to 7, an especially sweet victory for Coach Frank Barger.

Boy's Basketball

An inexperienced, but well-coached HHS basketball team surprised many this year by going through a tough schedule with a perfect conference record of 16-0.

With only one starter from last year's squad, HHS combined accurate shooting and strong rebounding to win a total of 22 ball games. The Tornadoes averaged .424 per cent on their field goal attempts and pulled down an average of 46 rebounds per game.

Newton was the team that offered strongest competition and most exciting games. Fans will long remember Duncan's jump shot in the last second to give HHS 35-34 win and Huffman's last-minute winning basket in the next Newton tangle.

David Murr and Tommy James were honored with all-conference selections. Murr led the conference in scoring with a 15.4 average and was also selected to play on the North Carolina Kiwanis team.

Girl's Basketball

With a team mainly composed of sophomores and juniors, the HHS Tornadoettes finished in a tie with Newton for second place in conference play. The HHS girls posted a 12-4 conference record and a 17-5 overall record. They lost to Kannapolis in the Western North Carolina finals.

Although the Tornadoettes were short in height they grabbed 200 more rebounds than their opposition.

Behind Linda Newton's 38 points, the Tornadoettes pulled one of the biggest upsets of the year when they defeated the Taylorsville girls 46-45 in the District Tournament. This was the first loss in 72 games for the Taylorsville team.

With an average of 24 points per game, Linda Newton led the HHS forwards. Sylvia Settlemyre and Emma Hefner, the only seniors on the team, pulled down 146 and 133 rebounds, respectively. Settlemyre also intercepted 173 passes to lead Tornadoette guards.

With points and smooth ball handling, Captain Linda Newton led her team to a winning season.

Paul Swing, Coach Washam, and David Murr examine the trophies that declare HHS Northwest Conference, Western Conference, and association champions on the baseball diamond.

The Hickory High School Baseball team of 1957 was one of the best in the school's history. Coach Troy Washam led his team to first place in the Northwestern Conference. Representing the conference competition, the Tornadoes came out on top. In WNCHSAA playoffs, HHS defeated Concord, 4-2, for the title.

Junior Paul Swing was named on the first All-State team, as was senior Carroll Bolick. David Murr was given third team honors.

David Murr gave Marion only two hits as Hickory rolled over the Rippers, 7-2. David Dale and Wilson Martin got two hits each to lead Tornado batters.

Morganton bowed to HHS by the score of 4-1. Moser took hitting honors for Hickory with two hits.

That drink of water after the third inning gives these Tornadoes a second wind.

Riek Moser, who knows that a good bat could mean a good hit, carefully chooses his "weapon."

Exercises play a big part in spring training as Wayne Bowman, Jimmy Power, Harper Huffman, Ted Frye, and Joe Pope demonstrate.

Too many Tornado errors proved costly in a game with Hudson, as HHS lost 5-1.

Hickory swamped Valdese, 13-1, with Paul Swing collecting three hits.

Ronnie Frye led HHS hitters as the Tornadoes rallied for 6 runs in the fifth inning to beat Lenoir, 7-1.

Swing hit a three-run homer for Hickory, and Carroll Boliek collected four hits to lead Hickory to a 10-1 victory over Marion.

Although Harper Huffman pitched well for the Tornadoes, Taylorsville out-hit Hickory to win 6-4.

HHS defeated Wilkes 13-2 in a very one-sided game as Paul Swing, Ted Frye, and Ronnie Frye had two hits each for Hickory. Hurler Floyd Crawley limited Wilkes to two hits and two unearned runs.

Paul Swing, David Murr, and Rick Moser finish dressing as game time approaches.

A plan of strategy? or a loose glove? Huffman and Pope in moment of discussion.

Some fans describe team: "Best ever."

David Dale led HHS over Lenoir, 11-3, by collecting three hits and two runs-batted-in. Crawley got three hits in this contest.

Hickory was held to three hits by Morganton and lost 5-3.

Ted Frye paced HHS with two hits, while David

Murr allowed Newton only one hit as we beat the Red Devils, 2-0.

Paul Swing who led the Tornadoes with a .400 average, hit three home runs to lead in that department. Big lefthander David Murr struck out 62 and walked only 20.

Lee Kanipe waits for his chance to get a hit for his team.

The school bus seems to be locked but these HHS players, eager for an important victory, will find a solution to the problem.

Pole vaulter Jim Cox clears the bar in first track meet.

Yards ahead of his nearest competitor, track star Benjy Seagle crosses the finish line.

The Track team of '57 was a vast improvement over the '56 squad. The team finished fourth in the District Meet held at Davidson College. In several meets, Benjy Seagle scored fifteen points or more. He was a consistent winner in the dashes as well as anchoring the mile relay team. H. L. Duncan was outstanding in the high jump and broad jump. Frankie Deal threw the discus and shot put successfully.

Buddy Burcham winds up to throw the discus.

Two hurdlers duel for first place in the Conference track meet.

First row: D. Woods, B. Smith, C. Kerns, K. Johnson, J. Cox, A. Jackson, E. Williams.
 Second row: G. Williams, R. Garren, D. Bowman, R. Brittain, L. Kanipe, F. Deal.

The Hickory High wrestling team, coached by Jim Garrett, showed a marked improvement in its second year of existence. The HHS matmen failed to win a match, but always gave a good account of themselves.

The Hickory wrestlers were matched against some of the top wrestling teams in the state. From the opening whistle until the end of the match, Hickory High's opponents knew they were up against a worthy adversary.

Big Frankie Deal did not lose a fall during the regularly scheduled matches.

Harold Caldwell, Craven Kerns, and Kenny Johnson also were outstanding wrestlers.

Craven Kerns uses a body press to pin his rival from Mooresville.

Hickory grappler Frankie Deal pins down his opponent for the count of three.

newest additions

In their first year of existence, the Hickory High Golf Team was defeated in every match. Coach Jim Garrett said that the experience from their losses this year will be put to use next year.

Johnny Barringer, the only senior on the team, was always a hard man to beat. Junior George Earl Davis was a consistent performer and got off several long drives. Sophomores John McCreary, Henry Harrison and Robert Engart made a good showing despite their inexperience on the fairways. Ronald Whiting, another Sophomore golfer, showed outstanding improvement in his game as the year progressed.

All six golfers received monograms last year and only two will be lost from the team.

With experienced golfers such as Davis, Engart, Harrison, and McCreary returning, Coach Garrett expects his golf team to improve in the coming seasons.

First row: J. Barringer, G. Davis, and J. McCreary. Second row: R. Engart, H. Harrison, and R. Whiting.

Physical Education

Some of the athletic teams of Hickory High School stem from the daily athletic classes which train and prepare students in the various sports.

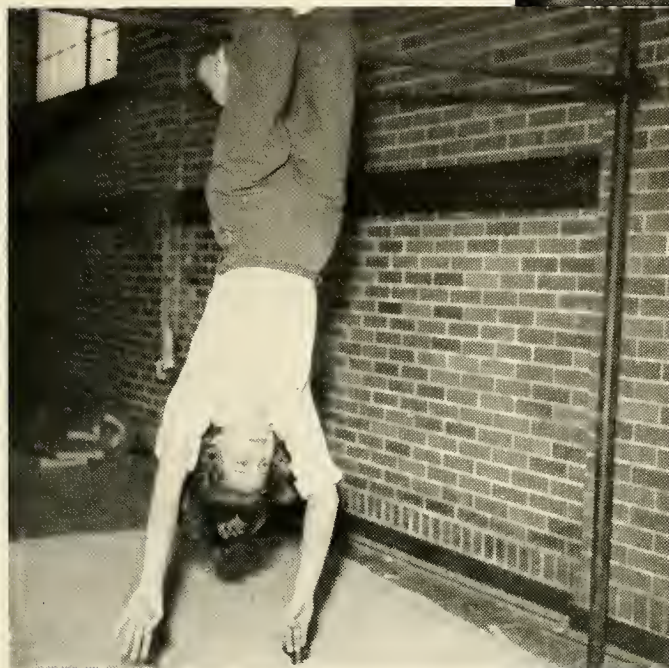

Danny Lonon, above, demonstrates one of the body building skills he has developed in physical education. Pole-climbing sophomore (seen at right) shows another one of the muscle builders in gym class.

Interest in sports—intramural and interscholastic—draws students and out-of-school followers.

Classes develop interest

Although physical education is not a required subject, both boys and girls take the course which aids in developing sportsmanship and team work.

Relaxing between turns, a group of sophomore girls (above) lean leisurely against the gym wall. After a hard workout rest feels mighty good.

FEATURES add excitement, variety,

WHEN a person becomes reminiscent of his high school days, he usually thinks first of those events which somehow gave the years excitement, variety, and purpose. Never to be forgotten were the hasty preparations for homecoming floats; the few minutes before the class plays; eager faces waiting for the appearance of favorite teachers in the teacher production; the mystery surrounding student elections. These he will remember.

ADS — from local subscribers,

A study of the ads in the LOG reveals a history of businesses in Hickory. Some of the subscribers in the 1933 LOG have disappeared but these have remained loyal throughout the past twenty-five years: Lenoir Rhyne, Spainhour's, Bumbarger's, Hickory Funeral Home, Hickory Chair Manufacturing, Inc., Bisanar's, Southern Desk, Ninth Avenue Pharmacy, Hickory Printing Co., Belk-Broome Co., Lutz's Drug Store, Clay Printing Co., Coca-Cola Bottling Co., West-Deal's, Todd's Florist, Hotel Hickory, and Crouch Lumber Co.

The Hickory High School LOG has been published annually since 1917. The publishing of the LOG, as well as many other activities at Hickory High School, is made possible by business establishments in Hickory and other members of the community.

Depression and war years meant the disappearance of subscribers and the shrinking of the book. But some businesses remained subscribers during these hard years; and as more prosperous years advanced, these firms increased their ads. The prosperous years are reflected in thicker ads and increased pages. To you, faithful subscribers, the LOG Staff wishes to express our gratitude. Without you, the yearbook would not be possible. For your cooperation and understanding, we say thank you and may we continue doing business together!

Dear Lydia,
 I've really enjoyed having Biology and Study Hall with you this year. Especially S.A. We've had a lot of fun, haven't we? Except when Burnsie's in the room. He don't go around too much together any more. But Lydia, I enjoy your company very much and truly you are one of the most sincere and nice girls I've ever known. Sincerely yours mainly because you are always yourself - you don't try to "carbon-copy" any-thing anyone else can do or does, and that makes you what you are. You have friends - quite a few very close friends - no real friends. Only acquaintances. When most people have Always dug yourself a hole as you have always been. You might think I'm just shooting a lot of hell" but I promise I'll be with you right year, and I hope in some classes together, and I hope to see you soon. Best of luck to a great girl
